Announces Key Authors to Appear at Fort Bragg's 2018 All American Week

Colorado Springs, Colo. (April 23, 2018) - - Tactical 16 publishing company announced today that five of its authors will be at the Fort Bragg, N.C. 2018 All American Week May 19 - 24 to celebrate the 82nd Airborne Division's 101st birthday and meet with an expected crowd of over 100,000 attendees.

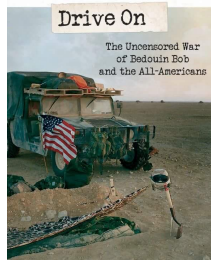

Appearances this year by authors Andrew Och, Robert Dvorchak, Chris Schafer, Pam Sausby, and Julia A. Maki will be a new addition to the event which not only celebrates the nation's dedicated paratroopers, but also pays respect to fallen soldiers and honors the sacrifices of generations past and present.

Tactical16 featured titles will be available at the Ft Bragg South Post Exchange starting Saturday the 19th.

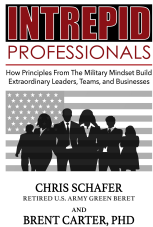

Andrew Och is an award-winning television and multimedia producer who has traveled the world with his pen, paper and camera. He provides a unique look at first ladies from the birth of our nation through the Obama administration after extensive research and interviews with people nationwide.

Award-winning journalist Robert Dvorchak, also known as Bedouin Bob, provides a raw and fresh perspective in this personal journal of what it's like to go through a war. Preserved in writing are the experiences and insights of those in all branches of the service who participated in Desert Storm, especially those dedicated volunteers in the Airborne infantry.

Robert J. Dvorchak

Chris Schafer and Dr. Brent Carter equip executives, managers, entrepreneurs and self-improvement seekers to understand and leverage principles of the military mindset. Readers will see a common thread emerge for success in those that dared to defy the odds. The authors focus on creating more agile, innovative, and financially competitive organizations and individuals.

Pam Sausby's illustrated picture book introduces young readers to the process military families experience on the return of their loved one from deployment. The story demonstrates the need for adults to prepare themselves and their children for the possibility that the returning service member may need some space and time as they are reintroduced into the family.

Julia A. Maki takes readers on a moving journey as she leaves her small hometown in 1997 and enlists in the Navy to serve in a newly opened to women combat aircrew position. She was told she was crazy for signing on for this, but she stuck it out, flew over 1,300 hours in a war-fighting machine and learned a lot of important lessons along the way.

Other noteworthy events the authors will be participating in:

On Saturday the 19th from 2 - 7 pm meet the authors book purchase/signing USO NC fund raiser at Dirtbag brewery 3623 legion Road Hope Mills, NC.

Dedication at 6 pm May 22 at the Airborne and Special Ops Museum in Fayetteville, N.C. honoring Felix Modesto Conde-Falcon, who was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor
